

MATH 1060 Final Exam Information

- The exam will be administered on Canvas on Monday, April 27. Your instructor will publish the exam to Canvas in advance of this date.
- There will be 35-40 questions and you will be allowed 3 hours and 45 minutes to complete the exam; however, the exam is not intended to take nearly this long.
- The exam will open at 8am Eastern on Monday, April 27, and will close at 8pm Eastern on the same day.
 - To receive the full 3 hours and 45 minutes, you must start by 4:15pm Eastern.
 - If your exam is submitted after 8pm, a five-point penalty applies.
- The breakdown of the exam will be approximately 30% material from the first two exams and 70% material from after the second exam.
- Questions will be multiple choice or typed numerical response.
- You should complete the exam in one sitting – do not close it and return later.
- You should complete the exam on a physical computer or a capable tablet. Please do not complete the exam using your cell phone.
- You may use class notes and other “textbook-style” resources available to you. You must be aware of the following exceptions.
 - You may not work with another person.
 - You may not communicate with another person in any form.
 - You may not use specialized calculators designed to perform advanced mathematics, in particular for limits, derivatives, and integrals.
 - Be aware that questions have been designed to detect the use of unauthorized resources.
 - Students who are suspected of using unauthorized resources may be subject to academic integrity charges.
- You will receive one and only one attempt at the final exam.
